DETAILED ACTION

Request for Continued Examination

1. The request filed on June 21, 2006 for a Request for Continued Examination (RCE) under 37 CFR 1.53(d) based on parent Application No. 10/516,621 is acceptable and a RCE has been established. An action on the RCE follows.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 1713

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148

USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

4. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Ashihara et al. (US Patent 6,277,912) for the reasons adequately set forth from paragraph 4 of the office action of December 21, 2005.

Applicant's arguments filed June 21, 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicants argue that Ashihara et al. (col. 15-16, Table 1, Example No. 6) clearly do not disclose the aqueous resin dispersion of claim 1 because Ashihara et al. disclose a dispersion comprising a chlorinated polyolefin grafted with methacrylic acid and 2-ethylhexyl methacrylate that are polar, and therefore, can give an aqueous resin composition without using a surfactant. However, Ashihara et al. (col. 15-16, Table 1, Example No. 6) compositionally still contain a chlorinated polyolefin grafted with maleic anhydride which the compositional requirement of claim 1. Therefore, claims 1-5 stand rejected for the reasons adequately set forth from paragraph 4 of the office action of December 21, 2005.

5. Claims 6-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Ashihara et al. (US Patent 6,277,912) for the reasons adequately set forth from paragraph 5 of the office action of December 21, 2005.

Applicant's arguments filed June 21, 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicants argue that the Affidavit filed May 22, 2006 provides comparative examples to show that the criticality of the claimed sequence of addition for obtain an aqueous dispersion. However, the examiner disagrees because the comparative data submitted do not commensurate to the scope of proving that the process of Ashihara et al. can not be used to prepare a dispersion.

In proving that the process of Ashihara et al. cannot produce a dispersion, applicants fail to include the chlorinated polyolefins of Ashihara et al. in the comparative study. Applicants must recognize that the objective of the comparative study is to show materials of Ashihara et al. cannot be used to produce a dispersion, not applicants' materials.

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
